TRUSTEES IN COUNCIL

CITY FATHERS HEAR REPORTS FROM ALL DEPARTMENTS OF CITY MANAGEMENT

The board of trustees met in regular session at the city hall at 7:30 p. m. November 8, 1915.

Present at roll call: Grist, Thompson, Williams. Absent: Lane and Tower.

The minutes of the last regular meeting were read and approved.

The regular order of business was suspended in order to allow Mr. Mattison B. Jones to address the board in reference to the prospective annual convention of Knights Templar in Los Angeles next year. Mr. Jones stated that the program for this unusual event is already being prepared and he thought it very desirable that steps should be taken to secure recognition of Glendale on said program, and Pasadena day had already been arranged for and he believed that if proper efforts were made it it would be possible to convert this into a "Pasadena-Glendale" day.

The members of the board personally expressed themselves in favor of the proposition, but further action on the matter was deferred for one week.

Mr. W. F. Wood appeared before the board and spoke in reference to the assessment on his property for the opening and widening of Orange Grove avenue. He expressed the opinion that his assessment is excessive and unfair, as apparently no allowance was made him by referees for orange trees growing upon the land, the same sum being assessed against him as against the adjoining property having no improvements. The city attorney advised that the matter had gone too far to admit of any correction being made by the trustees.

Mr. McQuown of Orange street addressed the board on the subject previously brought up by him in regard to a claim for lost time in connection with an alleged contract made with him by Street Su rintendent Tarr It seemed to be the sense of the board that this matter had been definitely settled when first brought up two years ago, and therefore no action was taken.

Mr. McMullin addressed the board suggesting a change in the present ordinance concerning dairies so as to require consumers of milk to wash bottles before returning them to the dairymen. On motion of Trustee Grist this matter and others spoken of by Mr. McMullin were referred to the city attorney.

Dr. Mabry of Tropico, representing the trustees of that city, addressed the board in reference to certain questions of a common interest to the two municipalities, disposal of garbage, sewerage, etc. He suggested that Glendale appoint a committee of one to work with a simila committee from Tropico, and possibly other nearby cities to work on these questions. On motion of Trustee Grist a committee was appointed consisting of the city manager and city health officer.

A communication was read from Belle C. Thom protesting against assessment levied against her property for the improvement of Canada boulevard. Upon motion, the hearing of protests in regard to this matter was fixed for 8 p. m. November 15th next.

An application was read from A. C. Toman for permission to conduct a dairy at 616 W. 7th street, and upon motion the same was granted.

Reports were received from the tax collector and city health officer and when read were ordered to be filed.

The city manager presented the report of the Mushet Auditing company, which was on motion ordered to be referred to the auditing committee.

Reports were presented from the manager of the public utilities, public welfare and engineer's department, and ordered to be referred to the auditing committee.

There being no protests on file in regard to assessment roll for the opening of Orange Grove avenue the same on motion of Trustee Grist confirmed and adopted.

The city attorney made a report on the demand filed by the city clerk for fees for the registration of deaths previously referred to him, quoting the law in reference to the same and giving his approval of the demand.

The manager of the public service department made a report on bids for glass globes submitted on November 1st, recommending the acceptance of the bid of F. Foster. Upon motion of Trustee Grist the recommendation was adopted and the bid of Mr. Foster accepted.

Ordinance Number 278, "An ordinance of the board of trustees of the City of Glendale abandoning proceedings heretofore taken under ordinace number 275, for the laying out and opening of Eighth street in said city" was ordered to be taken up for the third reading, and upon being read the ordinance was declared adopted.

The following demands were reported back by the finance committee and on motion of Trustee Grist warrants were ordered to be made for the payment of same.

Demands that had been previously referred to the finance committee were on motion allowed.

WITH EASTERN EYES

MR. THOMAS KEETON VIEWS GLENDALE FROM THE NEW YORK STANDPOINT

New York is the only "real city" in the United States, according to the belief of the New Yorkers themselves. The great eastern capital is a kind of close community. Its people refuse to make comparisons between themselves and others as they maintain there is no comparison. This spirit of exclusiveness is really a spirit of narrowness and, great as New York is, it has a mighty rival in Chicago, both for size, financial power and progressiveness, while San Francisco has claims to cosmopolitanism that no cosmopolitan will overlook.

It is interesting to hear a New Yorker's ideas of a Pacific coast city, so the following review of Glendale by Mr. Thomas Keeton, who recently came to this city from New York may interest the readers of the Glendale Evening News: "I left New York a few weeks ago and came to Glendale with my friend, Mrs. Oswald, of 1439 Oak street. I was delighted to get out and see the magnificent expanse of the continent. One never can realize what a mighty heritage the people of the United States have won for themselves until he takes this journey. Time would fail me to tell of all the wonders I saw on the way. The journey was one long unrolling panorama of beautiful cities and cultivated fields. The wealth of the country reveals itself on this trip and the diversity of the United States as well its magnitude put New York, even to a New Yorker, into its proper proportions.

"It is apparent that the United States is the expression of those myriad cities with their teeming population and their constant creation of new wealth. Arriving at the Pacific coast I was struck by the remarkable development of such cities as Los Angeles and its neighbors. Glendale is quite a wonder in civic cleanliness and beauty. When Brand boulevard is lit up at night it really has more civic lighting than Fifth avenue, New York. Naturally it has not the traffic nor the private electric lights of the stores, hotels, etc., but as a specimen of street lighting it is certainly ahead of New York's famous avenue.

"I was very much impressed with the Glendale Union High school building. This handsome and architecturally beautiful building compares favorably with many of the educational institutions of New York city and put in comparison with the group of buildings that constitutes Columbia university it is better than any single one of them.

"I have not yet got over the first impression of wonder at the beauty of the scenery round Glendale. It is wonderful. It has a charm peculiar to itself and while the scenery on the Hudson is also very charming the two places differ greatly in detail.

"I could go on praising Glendale for a long time so that my friends here will not resent my saying something in criticism of it. This criticism refers not to the city nor its surroundings, but to the fare charged by the Pacific Electric railway between Glendale and Los Angeles. The distance is about 16 miles and the fare 15 cents. In New York one can ride double that distance for 5 cents. My impression is that such a rate must constitute a great drawback to the development of Glendale and as such rates seem to prevail all round Los Angeles I feel certain they must seriously injure the development of its suburbs. It seems too bad to have such high rates to the beaches.

"One other thing is worthy of mention in a review of Glendale with eastern eyes—its streets are beautifully clean, much cleaner than the streets of similar cities in the east. The more I see of this place the more determined I am to make it my home."

WAR HURTS MISSIONS

SEVENTH-DAY ADVENTISTS LABOR FOR CHURCH AMID WAR'S DESOLATION

Heroic tales in Stanley's "Darkest Africa" are not more thrilling than the soul-stirring loyalty of Seventh-day Adventist missionaries in the "Dark Continent" during war time. Surrounded by thousands of savage black men, embittered by the race antagonism of the awful war, cut off from all communication with the outside world, unable for 18 months to receive any support from the home base and thus thrown entirely on their own resources, 25 missionaries of this denomination have been cared for providentially during all this time, and recent letters from them show that they are prosecuting their soul-winning labors with all vigor in spite of problems occasioned by the great European strife.

"More than 50 heathen have been converted and baptized at our stations on the Victoria Nyanza since the war broke, despite the fact that this region became a war zone as soon as the news of war reached Africa," declared Elder L. R. Conradi, of Hamburg, Germany, president of the European Division Conference of the Seventh-day Adventists, in an address before the convention of the Seventh-day Adventists at Loma Linda Saturday night.

Phenominal growth has come to the Seventh-day Adventist denomination in Europe since the war broke out, and in spite of the most trying conditions, Mr. Conradi said. Hundreds of Adventists have been left without shelter, clothing or food, he added, yet are patiently enduring their lot, and hoping for early peace. "Peace would be declared within ten minutes if it depended upon the Seventh-day Adventists," said the speaker. "Even during this war there is no bitterness in our hearts toward oth rs. It was my privilege in a Hungarian meeting to ordain two ministers to work in the Servian language. Remember the European Seventh-day Adventists in your prayers. They send you their greetings.

Though our ministerial forcce has been reduced from 800 to 600, preachers as well as laymen being forced by conscript to go to the battlefront, more than 5,000 souls have been converted and joined the denomination during the period of the war. Nor does this tell all the story of our advancement, for we have not yet heard from Russia nor German East Africa. Our finances have been maintained, and all our institutions in the countries at war still are being maintained without indebtedness.

Speaking of great hardships and difficulties encountered by both Baptist and Seventh-day Adventist ministers in the war countries, President Conradi said in one of the countries at war the greater part of the Adventist ministers either have been banished, sent to prison or drafted into the army. False reports regarding the denomination have been circulated, he declared, with the purpose of doing still further harm.

Holding up an American passport, covered on both sides with signatures, the minister said that without it he would be absolutely prohibited from moving about in the countries affected by the war.

When war was declared between Austria and Serbia the European Seventh-day Adventist leaders were holding a general meeting in England. Elder Conradi took the first train and vessel available for his home in Hamburg, and safely reached his destination, but in twice the usual time. Just before the war every mission station under the direction of the European Division had been visited and plans laid for aggressive work in each. As a result the Adventist work in Europe and Africa has been prospering in spite of the war.

Reorganization of Asia, Australia, the South Sea Islands and the Philippines, with four-fifths the population of the world, into a great division conference, one of the most far-reaching advance steps taken by the Seventh-day Adventists in recent years, was the first problem considered Sunday morning at the opening business session of the General and North American Division Conference convention of that denomination. This move was in harmony with the purpose of the Adventists quickly to give the gospel of Jesus Christ to the world before the generation of white-haired men and women now living pass away, believing as they do that Christ will come in the clouds of heaven in this generation.

W. A. Spicer, secretary of the General or World Conference, moved that "in view of the growth of our work in the Far East, and Austra-

WITH THE WYANDOTTE

FROMM CHICKEN RANCH MAKES SPECIALTY OF SELLING BABY CHICKS

Every chicken ranch has its own specialty and keeping to that one form of business is able to make some profit out of it. According to Mrs. C. Fromm, who has a large chicken ranch at 249 E. Third street, it is no easy matter to make chickens pay. The business demands not only special knowledge but also special di'igence in applying that special knowledge. The margin between profit and loss is not large and under certain conditions it is possible to pay too much for the production of eggs.

"I have always made a specialty of white Wyandottes and I believe I have the largest stock of white Wyandottes in Glendale. Usually there are between 250 and 300 on the ranch. If you examine these birds you will see that they are large and in excellent condition. They are good layers and also excellent for table use. White Wyandotte broilers and fryers are always in good demand and always come up to expectation. Their flesh is tender and they are, if given proper attention, always plump and in good market condition.

"Here, too, we have a pen of White Orpingtons from the famous Whitten strain. The Whitten ranch is in North Glendale and is well worthy of a visit. The Whitten birds are famous all over the state. They are good layers and good table birds.

This ranch makes a specialty of raising and selling baby chicks. We have three incubators, with a capacity of 1400. We can hatch out that number every three weeks. These baby chicks are sold to the Pioneer Hatchery in Los Angeles, which is always ready to take any quantity. We also sell to private individuals and do a good business both ways. There is profit in the chick business and it can be turned over many times in a year. It also saves us the trouble of raising the chicks.

"While we handle the chick business to a great extent we do not neglect the egg business. We have great demand for eggs, especially during the winter season. Now is the time when eggs pay us for their production. In the summer the supply is large, the demand not so great and the price small The other day we got an order from the Imperial valley to supply 2000 eggs a month to an establishment there.

"It may be interesting to readers of the Glendale Evening News to know that the White Wyandotte stands next to the Leghorn as a layer, according to the records kept by state authorities on poultry. This month the Wyandotte, however, beat the Leghorn. As broi'ers and fryers there is nothing to beat them. In this respect they are better than the Orpington. They are good all round and when we wish to bring out a few chicks in the good old-fashioned way they prove excellent mothers.

"On our ranch we raise all the green stuff the chickens need. They are especially fond of kale which you see growing there and it is valuable as it grows well throughout the winter."

REGISTER YOUR STATE

Beginning with Monday, Nov. 15, the registration of states will be taken up again. This gives citizens of Glendale a week in which to send in their names and induce their friends to send in theirs. The registration has proved highly satisfactory and the only regrets expressed in connection with it are those made by persons who neglected to register and would now like to see their names in the lists.

Through these lists much interesting communication has resulted between parties who were not aware of the state affiliations of each other. Send in your names and the names of all those from your own state.

Monday, Nov. 15, wi'l be Washington day; Tuesday, Nov. 16, Oregon day; Wednesday, Nov. 17, Montana; Thursday, Nov. 18, Maryland; Friday, Nov. 19, Tennessee; Saturday, Nov. 20, New York. Get your names in early and do not forget.

KING'S COMEDY AT ATHENS

How apt was the saying "eternal vigilance is the price of liberty" is amply illustrated in the comedy that is going on in Athens, the capital of Greece, at the present moment. Europeans laugh, without much knowledge at the "tapu" of the Samoan islander; but never seem to realize that kingship with all its privileges is a much stronger and more formidable "tapu" than any the tribes of the Pacific islands ever practised.

Constantine, king of Greece, is supposed to be a constitutional monarch and as such to govern in accordance with the will of his people. Constantine, however, has a German wife, no less a personage that the sister of the kaiser. From that side of the house comes the idea of the divine rights of kings, which Constantine comes perilously near to enforcing on his people. That an elective king should venture thus to defy and coerce his people is somewhat strong evidence of the influence that Teuton ideas have with the petty kings of Europe.

Not long ago Venizelos, the Greek prime minister placed in power as the expression of the people's will, came into collision with these kingly ideas. Venizelos insistently urged that it was Greece's interest and desire and also her duty as by treaty bound to go to the assistance of Servia against the Teutonic invaders. Constantine, however, did not see it in that light. Under the influence of Berlin he fought out the question and sooner than yield dissolved parliament and dismissed Venizelos from office.

Then the Greek people returned Venizelos to power with a greater majority than before. This the king also disapproved and forgetting that he was a constitutional monarch, overrode the will of the people, dismissed Venizelos and appointed Zaimios to office. The new premier, however, had no hold on the affections of the people, and none on the parliament except on the body of king's men, who had been bought and cajoled and terrorized into voting for the king's policy.

Forcing a vote, the other day, on a minor question, the government was beaten in the parliament, and Zaimios resigned. Ignoring the parliamentary vote King Constantine again reconstituted the ministry with another pliable tool at its head and a continuation of the policy by which the Servians are to be sacrificed.

Here comes the part that may be comedy or tragedy, as the case turns out. Up to this point comedy has been the order of the day. The people set up the ninepins and the king bowls them over. Now, however, Venizelos, who is probably the ablest politician and statesman in Greece, is about to challenge the king's actions. He maintains with ample justification that Constantine's interference is not constitutional and he also seems determined to ask the Greek people to decide whether or not democratic government rules during the present crisis.

It is unusual for the government to attack the king and that a responsible statesman should do so is even more unprecedented. That it should be the case is proof positive that Greece is at a crisis. Venizelos is bold. He is determined to put the king in his place as a limited monarch. Should, however, the kaiser's ideas be carried out by Constantine, Venizelos is likely to find himself in prison as a reward for his temerity in opposing his sovereign. In any case, whether now or later, Constantine is certain to come to the crisis that has from time to time faced monarchs in this world. The present crisis is, as Venizelos says, a test of democracy against monarchism. Without doubt the Greeks are at the parting of the ways. If they tamely submit to this kingly interference then they may bid farewell to liberty.

TRAINING A GIRL IN THE WAY

It is interesting at times to learn the mental attitude toward education of those intrusted with the supervision of public instruction. From time to time Mrs. Edward Hyatt, assistant superintendent of public instruction at Sacramento, comes into the limelight with a dictum that, if it accomplishes nothing else, brings about considerable discussion of the point raised. It will be remembered that not long ago she created quite a sensation by declaring that "no one could tell her how her daughter should dress while attending high school." That declaration of independence marks Mrs. Hyatt out as a woman with the courage of her opinions at least.

Now she ventures into the public eye once more with home-made rules for the training of girls. She is entirely against the old maxim of Solomon, "he that spareth the rod hateth his child." Mrs. Hyatt knows better than Solomon and declares that should a child do wrong and confess its folly, to chastise it as the punishment gives birth to the idea of lying next time to escape punishment. This is likely right and in any case it is doubtful if the proverbial rule was intended for girls, who have always been exempted, in proper households, from corporal punishment.

Mrs. Hyatt's next idea is that girls should be taught to dress within their means; that they should be brought up to understand the financial circumstances of their families and live accordingly. The right kind of girl, according to Mrs. Hyatt, will not try to equal the rich child in dress. By teaching the girls to take part in family affairs they learn not to consider themselves above such things.

These are good ideas and might well be put in practice along with the rest by which a girl is to be taught to find her own home so attractive that she will not seek for social amusement outside of it. Mrs. Hyatt goes on to say: "Encourage the girl to cultivate her taste for attractive dresses—lines that will make her appearance pleasing. This can be accomplished with very meager means. Let the young high school girl try different ways of dressing her hair attractively. Teach the girl to consult her mother regarding her clothes. The mother's taste is usually the best. She knows better than the outsider how her girl should dress."

These ideas will, in all probability, evoke much criticism adverse and otherwise. The age has developed a great many people who are anxious to reduce everything to a dead level of mediocrity, with rules for dress as well as for everything else.

It is curious that every age seems to desire some time or other to have a trial of imposing sumptuary laws. Those laws relating to dress have been imposed at different times in the world's history but they have never been obeyed nor has it ever been possible to enforce them. Age after age, however, the same old idea turns up and persons like Mrs. Hyatt, who have some endowment of personality and independence of thought, are certain to provoke the wrath and indignation of those who think everyone should think alike and act alike.

ASKS THAT MILK BOTTLES BE WASHED

Dairyman MacMullin appeared before the Board of Trustees of the City of Glendale Monday evening, asking that the dairy ordinance be amended in such a way that the patrons of dairies will be required to return milk bottles in a clean and sanitary condition. Mr. MacMullin claims that many disease germs are being carried from city homes and confectionaries by means of unwashed bottles.

While Mr. MacMullin's request may not be sanctioned by the board, yet from the very fact that the intimation about unwashed milk bottles has come up for consideration, the results will likely be that bottles will be returned to dairies in a more sanitary condition.

"SERVANT PROBLEM" SOLUTION

The Housewives' League of Montclair, N. J., expects that a year hence this community's servant problem, that bugbear to the women of almost every city in the land, will be solved.

Much progress already has been made toward geting plenty of efficient house help of all classes, toward standardizing the pay and the division of work for each servant. The haphazardness of these things done away with, thinks President Mrs. Chauncey H. Marsh, the servant problem will be solved and the jokesmiths will lose one of their most lucrative sources of income.

Five hundred letters will be mailed today, in addition to the 200 already sent out, asking as many housewives a series of servant problem questions. Upon an analysis of the answers will be based the servants' standard of wages of Montclair. An analysis of the 200 answers already received shows that a girl doing housework, but no washing, for an average family of 5, should get $22 to $25 a month.

What the schedule will be for the maid who cooks, washes, makes beds, minds the babies, fires the furnace and scrubs, will be determined later. Each commmunity, says Mrs. Marsh, should put its own servant service on an efficient basis the way Montclair is doing.

"We want," said Mrs. Marsh, "as every community should want, to pay a rate sufficient to attract capable, high-standard help; for by raising the standard of the servant, we will make life pleasanter for the housewife, husband, kiddies and the servants themselves.

"Since Supt. Bliss has opened the schools' domestic science classes to housewives and servants, the teachers have been swamped with students anxious to improve their cooking, sewing, etc."

Housewives may now catch their servants young and educate them to suit, without cost other than taxes that they pay anyhow, in the public schools. A co-operative servants organization to work with the Housewives' League, may also be organized a little later.

COMING, YOUNG PEOPLE, NOTICE

A great union meeting of the Young People's societies of the Glendale, Tropico and Casa Verdugo churches wil lbe held at the Glendale Baptist church on Sunday evening, November 14, 1915, at 6 o'clock. The theme of the meeting will be "How the Denominations May Be United in Service." Isa. 52:7, 8. This will be one of the most helpful and most largely attended young people's gatherings ever held in Glendale. Come yourself and bring all the friends you have. Help advertise this great event far and wide.

KNOWS HOW TO REST

An Indian, hale and well-preserved at seventy-six, says he is so vigorous because he knows how to rest. This is a lesson the paleface might learn to advantage from the red man. We bring on premature decline of mental and physical vigor by useless worrying and constant fretting. Some of us never rest. We think we do, but we do not. We do not completely relax in mind and body and spirit. We carry the battles of life into what should be its bivouacs. The Indian rests all over—in body, mind and spirit. This prolongs his years and preserves his strength.

San Francisco day at the exposition was marked by 348,472 admissions. The loyal population certainly was going some, and in one general direction.

GENEROUS SPIRIT PREVAILS

The fact that several counties of Northern California are preparing to have exhibits at the San Diego exposition and to support it loyally, is significant of the broad, non-sectional spirit that, happily, prevails largely in California. Petty, narrow provincialism is unbecoming in any portion of this great commonwealth. If San Diego county flourishes or has something worth while, that is reason for Siskiyou county to rejoice. And if Siskiyou county, or any other county north of the Tehachapi, is prosperous or has or does something worth while, that is reason for San Diego and every other Southern California county to feel glad and to felicitate these sister northern counties. Let us be done forever with puny-minded, small-souled, sectional jealousies in this state. Each and every county should feel bound to all other counties by ties of common interests, common purposes and a common destiny.—Exchange.

WANTS HIGHER RATES

Special to Glendale Evening News.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 9.—The Wells-Fargo Express company today petitioned the state railroad commission for permission to raise express rates on food products, on the ground that it lost $500 a day during the fiscal year ending June 30.

START HYACINTHS NOW

Although hyacinths may be forced in earth, they grow quicker in water, and if started now will be in bloom by Christmas. For this the usual hyacinth glasses are the best; dark colored ones seem to give the best results, as roots like darkness rather than light. The water must barely touch the bulb. If it gets low it should be filled without disturbing the roots. A few pieces of charcoal will keep the water sweet. Keep in a cool, dark place until the roots have been formed, which will be about ten days, move to the light until the stems and foliage are well up, and then put in a window to flower, taking care to move them from the window at night. Other bulbs on a bed of pebbles which is two or three inches deep flowered in winter. The large pink single hyacinth, such as the Norma, is best for water growing.

Chinese lilies grow rapidly and need only a few days in the dark, and bloom in thirty or forty days. Place the bulbs on a bed of pebbles which is two or three inches deep in a broad dish. When the water is added it should reach only about midway up the bulbs; a little charcoal keeps the water sweet.

MEXICAN SAUCE

Use one pint of ripe tomatoes chopped and drained, two cups of chopped onions, one-half cup of white mustard seed, four large red peppers and four green, chop seeds and all; one-half cup of salt, scant; two cups of white sugar, and six cups of vinegar. Mix well and can without heating.

Since the vote in favor of suffrage in Pennsylvania is climbing to a respectable total the people there are getting over their chagrin. A little ashamed yet, though.

ON A SCENIC RAILWAY

Glendale line of the Pacific Electric railway, has been noted as a scenic line. Its beauties have been heralded far and wide and railway men tell you it is second only to the Mount Lowe road.

Its qualities as a scenic railway, however, are more pronounced than the real thing. The high trestle back of Silver Lake, which crosses a particularly windy chasm, has claimed more than one hat. Recently it claimed two hats of Glendale ladies. One is at the bottom of the chasm, the other alighted on the floor of the car. The ladies are now vowing that the new style of hatpinless headgear will not prove popular on the Glendale line.

Every housekeeper worries because the icing of her pineapple cake will soak into the cake and not be nice the second day. Here is a little secret that keeps the last of the cake as good as the first. Drain all the juice off of a can of grated pineapple. Put on the stove with two tablespoonfuls of sugar. When it comes to a boil stir in a little at the time two tablespoonfuls of corn starch that has been mixed in a little water. Mix this with pulp when it has thickened. When about cool, put on cake.

IN RECORDER'S COURT

On the complaint of a neighbor, J. R. Smith and Lewis Gastelum, 1533 Vine street were charged with disturbing the peace, Sunday morning, by singing in a loud and unusual manner at 2 o'clock. After evidence Judge Whomes fined them $5.00 or five days each. The fines were paid.

THE ROCK IN EAGLE ROCK

Some of the diligent students in geology at the Union High School anxious to know "who put the rock in Eagle Rock" brought the question to Prof. Houdyshel. The professor is nothing if not exact. He informed them that the rock is a granitici formation and that the eagle is an integral part of it, the form having been the result of differential weathering. In other words the storms and rains and other erosive forces gradually ate away the softer parts of the surface leaving the hard granite in the form of the eagle.

On Tuesday, last week, San Francisco Day, no fewer than 245,000 people were in the Fair grounds. The crowd was great but not so great as the numbers would have indicated. HELD UP AND ROBBED

When L. H. Allison, 1512 Penn street, was proceeding homeward the other night, he was suddenly and rudely disturbed by a gruff voice that ordered him "hands up." Allison threw up his hands and was relieved of a gold watch which from his own statement appears to have been the only thing of value he had. The police are investigating the story, which is a little hazy as to details of time, place and the personality of the hold-up man.

LOCAL CHAPTER D. A. R.

What is certain to prove a most interesting meeting of the General Richard Gridley chapter of the D. A. R. will be held Wednesday afternoon, at 2 o'clock, in the home of Mrs. John H. Braly, 205 N. Brand boulevard. Ladies are requested to bring their work along with them. The study of United States history wi'l be begun and work can proceed during the reading. All ladies are also requested to bring with them heirlooms such as old samplers, old pictures, anything dating from colonial times or having historical value. It is desired to have a kind of colonial exhibit which will illustrate the old colonial days and keep alive their memory. Each lady has the privilege of bringing a friend with her. Refreshments will be served and a good time is promised.

DIFFICULTY IN GETTING LATEST OVERLAND CARS FROM FACTORY NOW OBVIATED

Meyers, the Overland man, reports the outlook good with an early demand opening up. He expects to have no further difficulty in getting cars for delivery, shipments coming along rapidly.

"There is apparently no limit to the ways and means of utilizing the automobile for business purposes," says John N. Willys, president of The Willys-Overland Company, Toledo. "In the course of a year hundreds of letters are received by this company from Overland car owners, explaining some novel way of using pleasure cars in their business.

"One of the most interesting of these letters was called to my attention recently. It contained a photograph showing an Overland touring car that after five years of service as a pleasure car, was converted by its owner into a mine motor for hauling cars in a coal mine at Brisbin, Pa. The owners found that this Overland car took the place of a $2,000 mine motor and it certainly has given the most efficient service at its unique task."

GARDEN SOCIETY NOTES

A free public meeting with a lecture by Mr. George Maxwell and stereopticon pictures will be held at the High School Thursday evening, Nov. 18, at 8 o'clock. Every man, woman and child is invited to attend. This is the first public meeting to be held by the Garden society; others will follow in due course.

Anybody who would like to exhibit some particularly good blossom or plant might bring their specimens to headquarters, 1111 W. Broadway. Every advantage for display will be given, and the flowers will serve as living examples of what Glendale folks can do.

Printed instructions for the cultivation of bulbs can be obtained from Mrs. Nanno Woods at headquarters. A bulletin entitled "The Pleasure and Profit of a Back-Yard Garden" may also be obtained, both brochures free to everyone. Or send stamp for mail-ing.

Disbud your roses as you would your chrysanthemums; remove all buds but the top one, and the quality will be enormously increased.

A notice in the window of the now dismantled Goldfish restaurant, Broadway and Brand, contains interesting news for every man, woman and child in Glendale and nearby districts.

Joining the Glendale Garden society this week, 25 cents annual dues, makes you the possessor of one dozen larkspur plants, and now, after the life-giving rain, is the very time to plant them out. Visit headquarters, 1111 W. Broadway, where you will find Mrs. Nanno Woods ready to welcome you and to tell you something about the Garden Society.

PARLIAMENTARY SECTION HAS MEETING

The Parliamentary section of the Tuesday Afternoon club held a very interesting and instructive meeting at its last session. Mrs. Oliver O. Clark acted as temporary chairman. Her alert business rulings demonstrated to all the class the result of careful study and preparation. The subject taken up was: "First and second meetings, and to form a permanent organization." Mrs. John Robert White, Jr., made the report for the committee on constitution and by-laws. The next meeting, to be held Nov. 9th, 1:30 p. m., will be a contest on "Privileged Motions." Mrs. W. E. Evans and Mrs. A. W. Hunt, captains for one division, and Mrs. Ella W. Richardson and Mrs. Helen I. Campbell, captains for the second division. These meetings are very interesting and instructive. All club members welcome.

A BUSY STREET.

I love a busy, hustling town!
One day they put the paving down,
All nice and smooth and sweet; and then
Next day they tear it up again.
From one end of the street back to
Its other end, that's what they do;
And then they get it smooth and flat,
And give it its last loving pat,
And then there is a shriek of fear
Comes from the city engineer—
He has mislaid his monkey wrench!
And instantly they start a trench
And toss the pavement all around
Until the monkey wrench is found!
And then they tamp the dirt in tight,
And get it levelled off all right,
And surface it with hard concrete,
And make a street as is a street
By putting sand and brick on that,
And the steam roller makes it flat.
Then they pierce that pavement through and through
To lay a line of pipe or two!
Then they repair that, and it lies
Smoothly beneath the summer skies
For, it may be, a day or two;
Then there's a sewer to run through!
Now, when some one you chance to meet
Talks of the "busy city street,"
That's what he means, in this man's town,
The street that's getting up and down
And rolling over that way, till
It just seems like it can't lie still.

Mrs. [illegible] Hammond will entertain the Ke[illegible]gton club at her home, No. 110 Ea[illegible] Cypress street, Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Hammond will be assisted by Mrs. Thomas Atkinson, Mrs. William Tiffany and Mrs. I. J. Spafford. One of the pleasant features of the afternoon will be the novelty pie, the contents of which will be known as each guest is requested to contribute at least one ingredient towards making the pie. Now that does not mean the usual ingredients that render a pie so delicious, but some small article that will represent at least ten cents. A large American flag will be floating from the residence of the hostess waving a cordial welcome to all.

The annual inspection of N. P. Banks W. R. C. will be held in G. A. R. hall Friday afternoon, the ceremonies attendant upon this occasion beginning promptly at 1:30 p. m.

Mrs. Mary Hartwell of Los Angeles, past department president and department inspector, will inspect the ritualistic work which will be conducted by Mrs. Adelaide H. Imler of N. P. Banks Corps, and her efficient corps of officers. An elaborate luncheon will follow the ceremonies and will be served in the banquet room, which has been but recently painted and very prettily decorated by the ladies of the Corps. All members of this organization and all visiting members are urged to be present Friday afternoon, also all comrades of the post.

Mrs. Wayland Brown, who is directing "Si Slocum's Country Store and Postoffice," to be given in G. A. R. hall Wednesday evening under the auspices of the Tropico Thursday club announces that John Stratham of Los Angeles, the noted comedian, has consented to take the role of the village negro. Versatile Joey Seaman will take the character of Slow Boy, a most important adjunct in the country store. There will be college boys and village school girls and just lots of fun. King Satire will be there and all will enjoy a good laugh at the expense of their neighbors while they in turn will laugh at each other.

Mrs. W. A. Alexander of Blanche avenue will be the guest of friends in Little Landers this week.

Mr. and Mrs. George Melrose of Cypress avenue have but recently moved to Los Angeles, where they will make their future residence.

The ladies of N. P. Banks W. R. C. held an all-day meeting and a luncheon in G. A. R. hall Monday. The meeting which was conducted by Mrs. Adelaide H. Imler, was devoted towards arrangements for the meeting of Friday.

The Senior play of the Covina high school will be given under the able direction of Mrs. Wayland Brown, the efficient director.

What is certain to be a very pleasant gathering is now being arranged by the Mothers' Club of the Acacia Street school. Those ladies are planning a bazaar to be given Saturday afternoon, Nov. 20, in the school. Twenty-five cents will be the popular price of the day; no article made for the bazaar to be sold for more than that price regardless of value. Frankfurter sandwiches, candy and popcorn will also be sold throughout the afternoon. One glimpse at some of the articles furnished is proof of the success of the bazaar.

WHERE BUSINESS RUSHES.

It has been computed that 200 people eat weekly of the savory Mexican dishes at Whitton's restaurant, on Brand boulevard. This does not represent all the customers who patronize this busy establishment by a long way, however. There is a constant business in tamales, chile beans, tomato sauce and other articles that go to constitute light lunches. The business is growing, which is an indication that Glendale is also growing.

We in America cannot realize to what extent all of our laws and practices are influenced by the Bible and how even unconsciously we have the spirit of being "our Brother's keeper," and of observing the Golden Rule, because it is inculcated in all.

There will be fire disasters so long as there are death-trap factories. And there will be death-trap factories so long as godless greed is permitted by law to operate such perilous places.

The Best Argument

In favor of having your woodwork, interior trims, etc., done at the Glendale Mill is—that the quality of their work is good and usually better than you can get elsewhere.

In addition the Glendale Mill is a home institution, employs home labor and is one of Glendale's few industries.

More can often be gained by supporting industries already established than in securing new ones for a community.

WHAT KIND OF SOUP?

A grocery clerk at Johnson & Lyons was busy preparing the afternoon delivery, when he came dashing up to Riley Lyons with the query:

"What kind of soup is this?"

And Riley, turning away from a customer to straighten out his order clerk, looked at the order and said:

"Soup—that's CAT'S-SUP—don't you know what catsup is?"

DISCUSS DEFENSE

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 9.—The adjutant generals from more than half the states in the Union and many officers of the National Guard attended the National Guard association meeting here today. The principal question for consideration is the Wilson-Garrison army reorganization scheme, particularly the plan to organize a "citizen army" of 400,000 men to form the second line, replacing the National Guard, which is to be the third line.

ALL WITHOUT A CAUSE

What rivers of tears, as well as streams of blood is Europe shedding in this great war! The agony of the wounded and dying is matched by the anguish of heart of the dear ones at home. Never will it be possible for finite minds or moral beings to grasp in all its appalling awfulness the full measure of misery and woe that this war is entailing upon the world. The sad part is that there is no cause for all this trouble.

WAR BRINGS CHANGES

Some one has truthfully said: "Do we realize fully the awesome influence the great war is having and will have on the world? In some respects it never again will be the same world it was prior to that fateful August day of 1914 when the mighty guns were unlimbered and the cataclysmal conflict began. We of this far-off shore feel and will continue to feel the stupendous change in human history that this supreme struggle is effecting."

BIRTHDAY PARTY

Red and green was the attractive color scheme used by Mrs. E. D. Yard of 127 North Maryland street when she entertained young friends of her son, Master Waldo H. Yard, in honor of his eleventh birthday. After an afternoon of boyish fun the "young men" found their places at a perfectly appointed table in the dining room. During the 5 o'clock supper all sorts of delightful surprises were produced to cause merriment. A huge birthday cake bearing eleven red tapes was cut by the host, befitting a real boy's appetite.

FAMOUS BISHOPS AT U. S. C.

Only once in a lifetime do students have such an opportunity as has been set before the undergraduates of the University of Southern California during the week just past. Twenty-three bishops of the Methodist Episcopal church have gathered from the ends of the earth to attend their meeting at San Diego. Seven of their number have given addresses at the university, speaking in each case before audiences which packed the college chapel to the doors. Each of these men is a polished orator, and their wide travels and broad experience make their talks interesting to the college men and women. Those who spoke are Bishop Theodore S. Henderson of Chattanooga, Bishop William F. Anderson of Cincinnati, Bishop John W. Hamilton of Boston, Bishop F. J. McConnell of Denver, Bishop Homer C. Stuntz of Buenos Aires, Argentina; Bishop William A. Quayle of St. Paul and Bishop W. F. MccDowell.

PICKING PARTY CANDIDATES.

The real, regular machinery which will pick and groom the next Republican and Democratic candidates for President will be started up in December.

With the meetings of the National committees at that time, the dates and places of me ting of the Democratic and Republican conventions will be decided upon. From then on, committee headquarters here will be busily watching booms, primaries, delegations and the other details of the program of picking the President.

Chicago, Philadelphia, and San Francisco are bidding for the Republican convention. The seaboard cities find Chicago's central location is the chief thing they have to combat and each is going about offsetting this in her own way. The convention will be held the latter part of June.

Responding to a demand following the last Republican convention, there has been a cut of ninety delegates, largely among the Southern delegations, which represented districts in which there is ltitle Republican strength. The number cut off is as follows: Alabama, 8; Arkansas, 3; Florida, 4; Georgia, 12; Louisiana, 8; Mississippi, 8; New York, 2; North Carolina, 3; South Caroiina, 7; Tennessee, 2; Texas, 14; Virginia, 9. It has been ruled that the Hawaiian, Philippine and Porto Rican delegates, numbering ten, cannot vote, and they are inc'uded in the ninety.

In nineteen states, the delegations are now chosen by primaries, and these are looked forward to with keen interest as showing the desires of the country in the matter of candidates. The primaries will be held as follows:

Indiana, March 7; Minnesota, March 14; New Hampshire, March 14; North Dakota, March 21; Michigan, April 3; Wisconsin, New York, Illinois, April 4; Iowa, April 10; Nebraska, Oregon, April 18; Massachusetts, April 25; Maryland, May 1; California, Ohio, May 9; Pennsylvania, May 16; New Jersey, May 23; South Dakota, West Virginia, June 6.

In Alabama, there is a primary bill pending in the legislature and in Vermont the primary bill passed will be voted upon at a referendum this winter. Of the 988 Republican delegates, 582, or considerably over half, are named in this way, and slightly over half of the Democratic delegates. The remainder are chosen in caucuses.

The action to be taken by the Progressive party is expected to be made known by Committee Chairman Victor Murdock at Wichita, Kansas, in a few weeks.

Congress will assemble on the first Monday in December. Would it not be a good idea to have a national week of prayer, beginning Monday, December 5?

CONGREGATIONAL MEETING

The Congregational churches of Southern California are holding a series of fellowship meetings this week. One of these meetings will be held in the Glendale Congregational church Wednesday. At 3 p. m. a conference on church work will be held.

The members and friends will have dinner together at 6:30 p. m. and at 7:30 p. m. addresses will be given by the Revs. Frank E. Knoph, Daniel T. Thomas and John M. Schaffer. "Evangelism," "Missions" and "The Mobilization of Spiritual Forces" will be among the themes considered. The choir will render special music. The public is most cordially invited to the evening service.

In spite of the threatening weather the pastor Sunday morning was greeted by an unusually large audience. The evening address on the "Modern Movements of the People" was greatly enjoyed and much valuable information was gained by the people of other lands who have come to our shores. Next Sunday evening Mrs. Willisford will read "Robert of Scicily" with piano accompaniment by Miss Carol Willisford. The music of the evening will be appropriate to the reading.

ADMITTED TO BAR

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 9.—Special Prosecutor Noel, objected to by the attorneys for the defense of M. H. Schmidt, alleged dynamiter and murderer, as not being eligible to plead in California, was admitted to the bar here Monday. Attorney Noel was admitted by the Third District Appellate Court.

EAGLE ROCK

The Guild meeting held at the Presbyterian church last Thursday was a most profitable one. A special speaker was present to address the ladies. Lunch was served at noon and for the first time the new folding tables were used.

Robert Crandall and Elmer Gee led the Epworth League meeting Sunday evening at the Methodist church. It was roll call night and each member present responded with a Bible verse. Echoes from the Epworth League Banquet held last Tuesday at Hamburger's were given by Mrs. C. W. Sanders, Misses Birdie and Ruth Crandall, Bernice Lawton and Messrs. Deane Hightower, A. A. House, and Robert Crandall. About 15 from this chapted attended the banquet.

Miss Katherine Smith and nieces who have been occupying the lower apartment in the Daniel's house on Sycamore have moved back into their own home on North Kenilworth.

The bungalow on West Adams Ave. being erected by six young men from India is about completed and they will occupy it shortly. One of them attends school at the Union High in Glendale and the others attend Occidental College.

The ladies of the Congregational church held an all-day meeting last Friday at the church and "Home Products" were served at the noon hour by the luncheon committee. Plans were made for furthering the use of "Home Products" in Eagle Rock.

The O. F. F. Club girls entertained their gentlemen friends last Saturday night at the home of Miss Katherine Bessolo on Colorado Boulevard. The house inside and outside was elaborately decorated with Hallowe'en emblems and many jack-o'lanterns added to the beauty and attraction of the decorations. Dancing was the main feature of the evening, and the girls were clad in Yama-Yama costumes. Delicious refreshments were served in the dining room after which dancing was resumed until a late hour.

Mrs. W. Carney of Acacia avenue pleasantly entertained a few of her friends at a Hallowe'en luncheon. The table decorations were true Hallowe'en colors, black and orange. The guests were from Glendale and included the Misses Esther Jones, Katherine and Dorothy Hobbs. Mrs. Carney was formerly a Glendale girl.

The football game which was to have taken place Saturday on the College field here was postponed on account of the rain.

The annexation proposition is still being discussed by our people and as time draws nearer for the election, the more heated and excited the "Anti Annexationists" and the "Annexationists" become.

The Boy Scouts are planning to take a camping trip this week under the direction of the Scout Master Rollin McNitt.

Miss Estella Hustis of Mariposa avenue is entertaining her mother from Omaha, Nebraska. She arrived last Friday and will spend the winter here.

The United States treasury is short of dollar bills. But it is not alone in its dearth. Many a person and many an institution are experiencing the same kind of shortage.

One reason for desiring peace is that not a belligerent has gained a thing by the absence of peace.

lasia, and realizing that the many large and difficult problems of those fields can best be dealt with by those on the ground, and in response to the memorial sent to the General Conference committee by the brethren in those fields, we recommend the creation of the Asiatic Division, the Indian Union, and the Australasian Union fields." This motion was seconded by W. T. Knox, treasurer of the General Conference.

A. G. Daniells, president of the World Conference, made a short statement, in which he said Adventist leaders are practica'ly unanimous in their belief that such a reorganization will strengthen great'y the missionary work in the Far East. Prof. H. R. Salisbury, superintendent of the Indian Union Mission said "the Orient is the greatest missionary problem American Christians must face from now until Christ comes." Europe will evangelize Africa, he said, but America must reach the millions of India and China, steeped in gross heathenism.

Prof. J. L. Shaw, for twelve years in charge of the India Mission, and Elder J. E. Fulton, president of the Austra'asian Union Conference, told of the great advantages from such a division. "Common problems of meeting Mohammedanism, and Buddhism, the astute religions of the Orient, establishing mission schools, and publishing houses, and otherwise advancing Christian missionary work, are before all our workers in that field, and they can unitedly work to better advantage than under the present arrangement," said Elder Shaw.

Elder Fulton gave a comprehensive report of the progress the denomination is making in Australasia. In favoring the plan, he said that the great fields of China, India, and Japan would bring about an outlet to the work in Australiasia by way of sending men and women from his field as missionaries to these benighted lands. Elder Fulton read a portion of a memorial sent by the Australiasian Union Conference committee in which they urged that favorable consideration be given to the proposition of setting off the Asiatic and Australiasian countries into one division.

The memorial contended that such a move would add a great stimulus to missionary endeavor, and that a stream of consecrated young people from Australasia, the speaker declared, and others are now ready to go. He also spoke of the benefits his field would receive from the counsel that would be given by the experienced heads of the division conference, and the other members of the executive committee.

Indications point to the adoption of this measure.

FLORENCE NIGHTINGALE II.

Florence Nightingale, the Second, is Nurse Borlase, the woman who knows every British battlefield in Europe. She has nursed in England, France, Flanders, Serbia and the Dardanelles, and is now in London to recuperate before she goes to Russia.

On the close-cut, mannish jacket of this elderly, grey-haired Florence Nightingale there are two South African war medal ribbons; also Belgian, Serbian, British and French medals, won in the present war.

In the South African war, Nurse Borlase was in the siege of Ladysmith. The first gun of the European struggle found her nursing in Canada, from whence she went to Flanders to nurse the Belgian wounded. Later, after a few months in France, news reached her of the sufferings of the Serbians and the ravages of typhus. Without hesitation she went to Serbia and remained until the scourge had passed.

It was after this that the British landed at the Dardanelles and she journeyed to Gallipoli in time to nurse some of the wounded who are now veterans of that campaign. Here nurse Borlase's health failed and she returned to London. When this is read in America she will be on her way to Russia.

CHINESE MINISTER TO THE U. S.

Hundreds of young men and women scattered throughout the United States remember their young Columbia University friend, V. K. Wellington Koo. It hasn't been so many months since he graduated with them and went home to China. Should they desire to see Dr. Koo now, they will find him, Minister to the United States, at the Chinese Embassy in Washington.

Dr. Koo is just 30 years old. To him has been entrusted the destiny of China in its relation to the Western world. He has dedicated his life to "save China as a nation from being dismembered and swallowed up in the maelstrom of the European war."

Dr. Koo was popular at Columbia, a leader in student activities, editor of the college paper, and active in athletic and literary groups. Dr. Koo has grown a trifle more sedate since his diplomatic duties have been put upon him, say his friends who saw him in New York recently. He is hailed by Prof. John Bassett Moore and other enthusiastic American friends as "a most brilliant student of international law, comparable to the prodigies of a century ago—William Pitt, Fox and Alexander Hamilton."

Ninety per cent of the railroads of this country are said to be against the Moon bill regulating pay for carrying the mails. Is the public to understand this as knocking the bill or boosting it?

Somebody says that historians are going to have a hard time sifting the truth concerning this war from the mess of lies. Perhaps, as has been the manner of historians heretofore, they will not attempt to sift.

If You Are in Business

You should advertise, of course; but before you start to advertise, have an idea of the kind of advertising you want—Newspaper or Circular, or both—then keep at it; give it a thorough try-out.

If there is one enterprise that a "quitter" should leave severely alone it is advertising. To make your advertising pay you must be prepared to stick to it—like a barnacle clings to a ship's bottom. You must realize that advertising, like all worth-while things, costs money, and that you cannot hope to reap wonderful results at the start. Make an appropriation for your advertising: $15.00, $25.00, $50.00 per month, from 1 per cent to 5 per cent of your gross business, for six months or a year. You cannot cash in on advertising if you discontinue it when the first month's bill comes due.

John Wanamaker, one of the world's most successful merchants, once said: "Advertising does not jerk—it pulls. It begins very gently at first, but the pull is steady. It increases day by day, year by year, until is exerts an irresistible power."

Wanamaker certainly believed the above statement, for he built up and maintained a large and remunerative business by advertising. His advertising was not done in spurts or spasms—but persistently and constantly.

"Advertising," says the Alhambra Advocate, "is like driving a nail—you can't drive it home with one tap of the hammer, but by one knock after another it is finally driven as far as it will go; then it holds. And, like the nail, it takes some effort to pry your customers loose from the store that is rightly advertised.

If you advertise, be persistent, keep at it, and if judiciously done your advertising will earn big dividends.
